Auxiliary Organized For Neblett Hospital

Neblett Hospital now has a hospital auxiliary, made up of volunteer workers from the community, for the first time.

The auxiliary was organized October 26 and now has 12 members, according to Mrs. Judy Castleberry, one of the organizers.

"The medical staff and the administration of the hospital are appreciative of the help and we feel they are rendering a real service to the patients," Ray Grimes, hospital administrator, said.

The auxiliary enables the hospital employees to do a better job and they are a great benefit to the patients because they have more time for contact with the patients, Grimes said.

"It also aids the hospital's public image to have interested community people involved in hospital activity," Grimes said.

"It is a boost to everyone's moral to know there are people who will give their time to render help for hospital care," he said.

Grimes said that the auxiliary began on a limited basis but that the hospital planned to use the auxiliary on a larger scale when the new hospital is built.

He said he felt that it would be good to have the auxiliary organized before the new facility is completed.

Judy Castleberry said the auxiliary plans to increase its number when the move is made to the new hospital but that the facilities are not available at the present time for more members.

Some of the duties of the auxiliary are running errands, delivering mail, making beds, washing instruments, dismissing patients, serving trays, visiting with the patients, making telephone calls and reading mail to the patients, and controlling visitors.

Mrs. Irma Guthrie, R.N., was the trainer for the group and she said she felt the auxiliary had been a big help to the hospital staff.

Mrs. Castleberry said that some of the members had been going to Amarillo to work in the hospitals there and that they felt like they should do something in Canyon.

During the Christmas holidays, the auxiliary had a coffee and brought their favorite Christmas dishes to the hospital for the doctors and nurses.

Members of the auxiliary are Judy Pruett, Gladys DeWees, Eileen Kent, Judy Castleberry, Rosanna Olson, Linda Elliott, Janelle Dillehay, Carlene Gardner, Sally Nester, Bryanetta Collins, Shirley White and Jeannie Kuhlman.

Fat cattle graze on wheat in Randall County now that the moisture is plentiful and ranchers and farmers are replenishing their herds. Randall County is expected to have the largest wheat crop in year, according to county agent John Brazzil.

Robert Gist, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Gist, Jr., was treated and released Sunday afternoon from Neblett Memorial Hospital following the incident.

Mrs. Gist said the bites were healing and stitches will be removed early next week.

The dog is under observation at Markham Veterinarian Clinic.

Rodger Wilson Takes 'American Vacation'

BY MARGO WILLIAMS

"Take a vacation from being an American."

And that is exactly what Rodger Wilson did for 3½ months in Scotland.

Rodger, son of Mrs. Donna Wilson of Canyon, took the advice of an instructor while at Edinburgh University in Scotland, and tried to become a part of another culture.

And he returned this week feeling that living as a part of another country is the way to see and learn about that culture.

The junior student at Earlham College in Richmond, Indiana went to Scotland as part of an educational program sponsored by Earlham. Of the three months, four weeks were spent in travelling around the country. The remainder was spent studying, researching and attending classes.

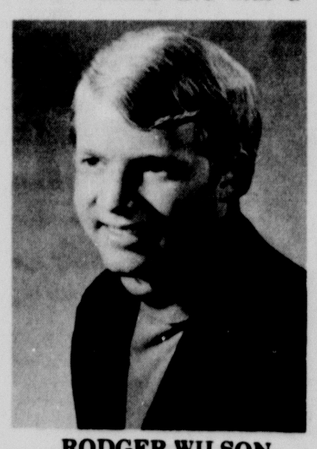

"I took some Scottish contemporary literature Scottish geography and tried to learn about the country," he explained.

Students lived with families in Edinburgh, thus learning first hand about the Scotland of yesterday and of tomorrow.

"I got to know the people because we went to the same cleaners each week, and the same fish and chip shop, the same grocer," he recalls. "You forget you are a tourist and you are able to sit down and become a citizen of that area. We settled down to a regular life in a foreign country."

Wilson relates that most students in Scotland attend college by living with a family.

"There was a housing shortage, and flats are rare, so most students live with a family on a bed and breakfast situation."

His impressions of the educational system in Scotland are vivid.

"Scotland was one of the first to abolish the 11 plus exam for students," Wilson declares.

The test was given to all 11 year olds and those scoring high enough were sent on to six years of secondary schooling, the others were entitled to three more years of school and they would be trained for a job.

"Now they have comprehensive schools, which are like our high schools and all kids go to that school.

He notes the dropout rate for students is nearly 63 per cent because kids get out to find a job. The last two years of school are aimed at university entrance, and students who do not wish to continue their education begin looking for a job.

"They are allowed to drop out at 16 years of age and they find a job and go to

County Ag Income Rises; Overcomes Early Drought

BY ELAINE PEEPLES

Randall County agriculture experienced two years in one this year with both a drought and an abundance of rain, according to County Agent John Brazzil.

The total gross sales of crops and livestock in Randall County should increase some this year over the $35,103,000 of 1970 despite the slow start, Brazzil said.

Brazzil estimated a $2 million increase in gross sales from livestock to bring the total to about $30.5 million in 1971.

Crop production last year grossed $6,600,000 and Brazzil said production of crops were probably off because of the smaller wheat crop but that the county had a better grain sorghum crop this year.

Early 1971 Dry

"At the start of the year, we were about as dry as we could get," Brazzil said.

The wheat was sown but produced very little grazing and there was very little moisture during the winter, he said. The blizzard and large snows of last winter brought very scattered benefit to Randall County, Brazzil noted.

"We went through the spring with no moisture and the wheat crop last spring was the smallest in 30 years," Brazzil explained.

Farmers made fair yields on irrigated wheat but most of the dryland wheat was not good enough to harvest and was grazed out," Brazzil said.

The feed reserves were depleated by springtime and when the time came for the grass to grow, the county had no moisture and as a result farmers and ranchers began to feel the severe effects of the drought in crop production, range production and livestock, Brazzil said.

"The number of stocker cattle that farmers kept was low in early summer and then they began to reduce their basic herds of breeding cattle since feed prices were very high and amounts were low," Brazzil noted.

"We found the whole southwest area in the same condition and there were no feed supplies available in a reasonable area," he said.

Herd Cut

"Farmers began culling their herds to get away from high maintenance cost," he said.

In June, farmers got some irrigated crops planted but there was not enough moisture to plant dry-land crops.

There were a few scattered showers in June and July so that planting was possible in parts of the county but the sub-soil moisture was still very scant, Brazzil explained.

Emergency Area

About this time Randall County was designated as a drought emergency area and the county also received emergency feed grain from the USDA that helped some, Brazzil said.

"We still had no grazing and crop production up until July looked like we were heading into a year with very little prospects again," Brazzil said.

The big change came between July 20 and August 1, Brazzil said. The weather changed to showers and good rains and then in August everyone received rains.

August Cool

Brazzil said August was also the coolest in many, many years. The rains continued through September and a marvelous recovery was made on range land.

"We could look out and the grass was green and we had more grass than cattle," Brazzil said. "We were almost in a new world."

Brazzil said that the county went into a wet fall that still remains wet. "The fall grazing on wheat was never better than in the fall of 1971," Brazzil said.

Prices Rose

As the wheat developed the ranchers and farmers got back into the market and cattle prices rose and still continued high, Brazzil said. "We still don't have enough cattle for the wheat," he said.

There has been some trouble with grain sorgham harvest. Brazzil said there were 10-days of harvest in mid-October when most of the grain was harvested but that there was still some grain sorgham in the fields.

"We have lost some of the potential production but the moisture was so good that we don't complain about that," he said. He said farmers were still harvesting sugar beets and cotton which was unusual of this time of year.

"As a result of the weather, we came out of the hole alot better than anyone every hoped we would," Brazzil commented.

Sub-Soil Good

"People are optomistic now," he said. The sub-soil moisture will benefit crops and livestock production through the spring and summer and Randall County has the best prospects for a wheat crop than the county has had in many years.

There should also be an early growth of grass and with a little moisture on cultivated lands, crops should easily get going, Brazzil predicted.

The population of Randall County is 96 to 97 per cent non-agricultural, Brazzil said, but since gross sales from livestock and crops were $35 million in 1970, agriculture is the most significant part of the economy of the county.

Feedlots Full

Brazzil said that the feed lots continue to operate a near-capacity and that if the feed lots were all full, the county would have a capacity for 100,000 head of cattle.

Brazzil said, however, that there is no indication that the lots are building up any carryover of beef and as long as this continues the price for cattle will remain high.

"We foresee no problems in the balance of supply and demand at this time," he said.

City Police Investigate Burglary

Canyon police discovered a burglary early Friday morning of $80 from the Pizza Inn when officers investigated a broken glass door on the north side of the business. According to officers, the large rocks were thrown through the door and a metal case containing the money was taken between the hours of 11 p.m. and 2 a.m. Dec. 23-24.

Chief Al Stewart said investigation of the incident is underway.

For Reelection

Johnston Announces

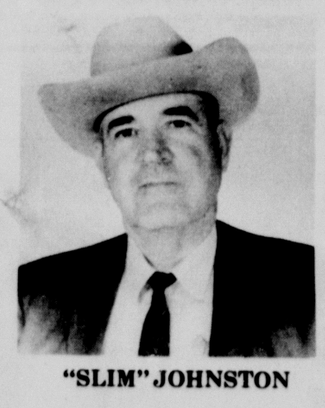

Randall County Sheriff L. S. "Slim" Johnston announced his candidancy for re-election Wednesday.

Johnston, who has held the office for some 18 years, began his law enforcement career after serving one term as county commissioner.

Following is a statement released by Johnston.

"I wish to take this means of announcing my candidacy for Sheriff of Randall County. As most of you know I have been your Sheriff for over eighteen years and have watched the county grow. As one of the fastest growing counties in the State, I have tried to keep abreast with the times by updating our methods and techniques.

"I am a graduate of the F. B. I. National Academy, regarded as the top law enforcement school in the world, and each year I attend a retraining session to bring me up to date on the latest techniques. I am a graduate of the Texas Department of Public Safety School for Sheriffs, also several special schools at West Texas State University in law enforcement. I hold the Advanced certificate of Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education. I am presently serving as 3rd Vice President of the Sheriffs Association of Texas.

"SLIM" JOHNSTON

"Only the best qualified deputies and personnel are hired, and they are schooled any time it appears there is a need. All of my men have had the required schooling and are certified under the Law Enforcement Certification Act.

"Randall County has one of the lowest crime rates in the State, and I feel this has been accomplished by the cooperation of all of the officers and the wonderful confidence and backing of the people of Randall County.

"I feel that I am qualified to serve as your Sheriff; I therefore will greatly appreciate your vote and support in the coming elections, and I thank you for your help in the past."

Commission Okays Bids

Randall County Commissioners authorized the advertisement of bids for two calculators and two office chairs for the tax assessor-collectors office at their meeting Monday.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse submitted specifications for the equipment to the court.

The court authorized the hiring of Asa Atchley as radio dispatcher for the sheriff's office at a salary of $380 a month.

Atchley replaces Jack Hill who resigned to accept a position with the Potter County Sheriff's office.

The court resessed and went into executive session with Carl Baker, county road superintendent, but no action was taken during the session.

It's the only way to travel, said one hundred and one year old Mrs. Addie Hefner following her first airplane trip. Mrs. Hefner boarded a private plane last week for a trip to Lamar, Colo., to visit her grandson, James Inman over the holidays. Mrs. Hefner has lived at La Casa Canyon since May, 1970. She formerly lived at 1415 7th Ave. in Canyon.

Leon Horton Formally Sentenced

Leon C. Horton, convicted of theft by false pretext Dec. 1 by a Randall County jury, was formally sentenced Monday to 10 years in the state peneteniary.

Horton, represented by attorney Joe Flemming of Houston, gave notice of appeal of the conviction.

Horton was scheduled to be tried in Canyon Jan. 10 and Jan. 24 but District Attorney George Dowlen said Horton would be transferred to Dallas to face charges there first.

The two trials here will be rescheduled following the trials in Dallas, Dowlen said. Dowlen said that certain facts were developed in the trial in Canyon due to Horton's testimony to enable Dallas authorities to take Horton to trial.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

by Troy Martin

Amarillo television was agog this week over the prospect that Amarillo Police Chief Wiley Alexander may run for Potter County sheriff and that DA investigator Jerry Ingram would withdraw from the race.

This column announced both tidbits last week.

I still look for former Mayor Paul Lindsey to be a candidate for county commissioner of Precinct 3 but it now appears that Jim Fletcher will run unopposed for re-election in his precinct.

Word from downstate has it that Ralph Yarborough is taking second looks at the governor's race. Ben Barnes has the LBJ machinery and the blessings of the great man himself.

Preston Smith has the advantage of running as governor. It remains to be seen whether the Sharpstown scandal will scar Smith beyond cure.

If Yarborough gets in look for a dirty, mud-slinging affair that will make his slugfest with Alan Shivers of the 1950s seem like a sparring match.

Speaking of political races, don't look for a Sunday School debate in the Potter County sheriff's race.

It could develop into a donnybrook the likes of which we haven't yet witnessed in a local contest in this part of the state.

Traditionally there has never been any love lost between the Potter County Sheriff's Department and the Amarillo Police Department.

This antipathy dates back to the days when Sid Harper was chief and looked upon Gaither with a jaundiced eye.

Sources close to the Amarillo city government say the city commission there will seek to employ a new chief formally educated in operation of a police department.

He will administer the department and handle public relations leaving crime detection up to officers whose responsibilities lie in that field.

If the commission takes this route it will advance the cause of law enforcement across the entire Panhandle.

At present I'm reading two books about World War II. One is Herman Wouk's "Winds of War" and the other is "Inside the Third Reich" by Albert Speer.

Wouk wrote "Caine Mutiny" and Speer was Adolf Hitler's personal architect. Both books reinforce my admiration for the Jewish race which began as a lad when I first heard the story of gallant little David as he squared off with a mere slingshot against the Philistines' towering armored Goliath.

I have sought a thousand times the source of greatness that runs like a golden thread through the fabric of this indomitable people's hisory.

I think the key is the fact that they believe in themselves. This has also brought about much of the persecution that has hounded them since they toiled over the Pharoah's pyramids at Giza.

Their tribulations pale those visited upon any other race ever to inhabit this earth.

They were scholars before Daniel translated the writing on the wall for the king of Babylon.

Wouk's book tells some of the story. He paints a vivid picture of skull-capped Jewish students listening attentively to a bearded rabbi who taught his class in the street before a bombed out synagogue even while German artillery ringing Warsaw rained destruction and Lutwaffe Stukas droned unimpeded above a helpless, open city.

As a race, they do not quit.

Even now a Jewish grandmother armed little better than her sheperd predecessor, stands unafraid before a Russo-Arab Goliath.

But Goliath hesitates. He has already felt the sting of her slingshot.

Western civilization owes them a great deal. They gave us our religion and much of our culture.

Records Are Abundant In County Clerks Office

The county clerk's office seems to be a catch-all for everything that doesn't have a definite slot, according to county clerk LeRoy Hutton.

The county clerk is county recorder for real and personal property and liens against the individual. He is an election official, ex-officio member and recorder for the commissioners court, recorder of vital statistics, and clerk of county court.

"I have some kind of record on almost everyone in the county," Hutton said.

It is possible that records filed in the clerks office on an individual could include birth record, guardianship records, misdemeanor charges in county criminal court, his military discharge, marriage license, his children's birth records, deed and mortgage on his home, liens on personal property such as a color television set purchased on credit, any federal or state tax liens or judgements, death records, probate records and the administration of an estate following death.

A person could also register an assumed name, a cattle brand, file a power of attorney, cemetery deed records, be checked as a notary or for a real estate license, trained as an election official, obtain a fishing or hunting license, or be certified as a juror.

During elections, other county officials are involved but they depend on the county clerk to see that everything is carried out, Hutton said.

The clerk takes care of all absentee voting. "Due to the growth in population and the number of absentee ballots, it is becoming a nightmare," Hutton said. He predicted that in the 1972 general election it is possible to have 5,000 absentee ballots cast which is more than voted in the city of Canyon in the 1968 general election.

Tangle Aire Estates Construction Begins

Construction is scheduled to begin in mid-January on a 131 acre housing development on the northern ridge above Tanglewood, according to the developer, Art Querry.

Eighteen of the 44 tracts have been sold to date, Querry said. The tracts range from one to five acres.

Querry noted the minimum housing restriction placed on the development is 2,000 square feet. Underground utilities have been laid and one and one-half mile of paved roads have been completed.

The city of Tanglewood must act on the development but Jim Fletcher said that if the development included only residences there should be no problems.

"It will be an asset to the community," Fletcher said.

The Randall County commissioners gave their approval to the plat on Oct. 6, 1969. The developers were to maintain the roads for two years and Randall County is to assume the roads for maintenance on Oct. 1, 1972, provided the roads meet their specifications.

He said in the development everyone would provide their own water and sewage facilities as is common in all rural areas.

Bank Student Board Named

Don Max Vars, president of the First National Bank of Canyon, announces this week the appointment of the student advisory directors representing West Texas State University.

They include: Cathy Gerald, Gary Fletcher, Gary W. Blanscet, Rodney Schroder, Bill McKinney and Lowell Catlett.

The Student Advisory Board meets on the first Thursday of each month.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

The New Year is a time of reflection and meditation. We should analyze why we do what we do, and evaluate the consequences.

We are living in discouraging times. But hasn't every generation faced discouragement?

Many Americans seem to believe the freedom our forefathers fought for automatically assures us a free nation, and the might of our fathers will continue to protect us.

Not so!

Each generation must fight anew to preserve its freedom. Eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty.

Crying "peace, peace" will not bring peace (Jer. 8:11). It is a waste of time for the sheep to pass resolutions in favor of vegetarianism as long as the wolves remain of a different opinion.

Each New Year is an adventure into which we must, as did father Abraham, go out, not knowing where we go. But which do we usually enjoy most, the journey or the arrival?

To the dissidents who feel our world is not worth saving, and are determined to destroy it and build a new one, the materials are already available; the first one was made out of chaos.

As this generation reviews its accomplishments in the fields of science, medicine, and technology, it can be justly proud.

It is in the area of humanities that we have failed. Too many children have obviously not been taught the eternal verities.

But before the adults who built this society acquire a guilt complex from the youngsters who are trying to destroy it, there is one thing they should remember: Sticks and stones are thrown only at fruit-bearing trees.

It is important to evaluate and attempt to correct our mistakes, but it might help to remember that about the only thing that cannot stumble or fall is a worm.

Our critical youngsters find themselves in the predicament of the Indian princess who, on coming of age, was given a basket and told to pick the finest ears of corn on a given row.

There was only one condition: She was to choose as she went along; she could not retrace her steps.

She carefully examined each ear, and went on to the next one, always thinking better ears might lie ahead.

Sudenly the princess was dismayed to discover she was at the end of the row and had gathered none.

When our first census was taken in 1790, 95% of Americans lived in rural areas. The 1970 census revealed a complete reversal: 95% now live in the cities. Men have always tended to congregate in cities, and God has never yet failed to disperse them.

Why?

Everything we have comes from the land. But when the majority of people get away from the land, they lose sight of the value of God's good earth. He sometimes uses drastic measures to remind them.

Do Americans have to live in the crowded, anxiety-ridden misery of the cities?

How much land is owned by the federal government?

How much ingenuity would it take to get Americans back on the land?

(Why doesn't Ralph Nader, the self-appointed savior of America, tackle that problem?)

Many urbanites would lose their high standard of living if they moved to the country, but which is more important, one's standard of living or one's life?

As we face 366 days of our journey into the unknown, what will we accomplish of lasting value. And how much will we regret?

The time we spend now in sincere meditation and prayer for guidance will probably determine whether we spend our time in rejoicing or remorse a year from now.

Rodger says the people are more politically conscious than Americans, and the vote at the polls is higher in Scotland than here.

"A larger percentage of people are members of a political party since every one who belongs to a labor union is also a member of the Labor Party."

"They seem to have a greater political interest."

And young Wilson feels the newspaper coverage in the Scotland is more frank.

"You are able to get both sides of any question in one newspaper, expecially The Guardian. They are open to contrasting views and both views are published in one paper."

The students on the special program from the United States were instructed not to read an American paper while in Scotland, and were urged to read the local papers for the news.

"It was a good idea, because you really begin to see the way they live and the way they think."

During a three-week travelling period in September, Wilson bicycled through Ireland staying in youth hostiles.

"A kitchen is usually provided in the hostiles, but indoor restrooms and shower facilities are rarely provided.

"The weather was so mild we generally wore tee-shirts and jeans as we bicycled.

"The people in Ireland didn't seem to mind us. We had to shop and buy things along the way, and the banks didn't mind changing our travellers checks into their currancy."

On his return trip last week, Wilson spent several days in Amsterdam and Brussels and then on to Paris where he spent one night before boarding the plane to the U.S.

"It's really the way to see another country. The professor was right when he suggested we vacation from being Americans. You can learn so much when you live with the people."

Mrs. Bruse Named To Commission

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, Randall County tax assessor collector was named to a four member commission appointed to draft proposed changes in the voter registration bill and on a bill requiring a $1 assessment on delinquent taxes.

The commission was appointed by the Panhandle County Tax-Assessor Collectors at their meeting Dec. 15.

Mrs. Bruse was also appointed to write to the govenor, senators, and representatives to urge them to place the recommended changes on the agenda for the special session of the legislature.

The commission will meet Jan. 16 to draft the changes and will present their recommendations to the full organization Feb. 16, according to Mrs. Bruse.

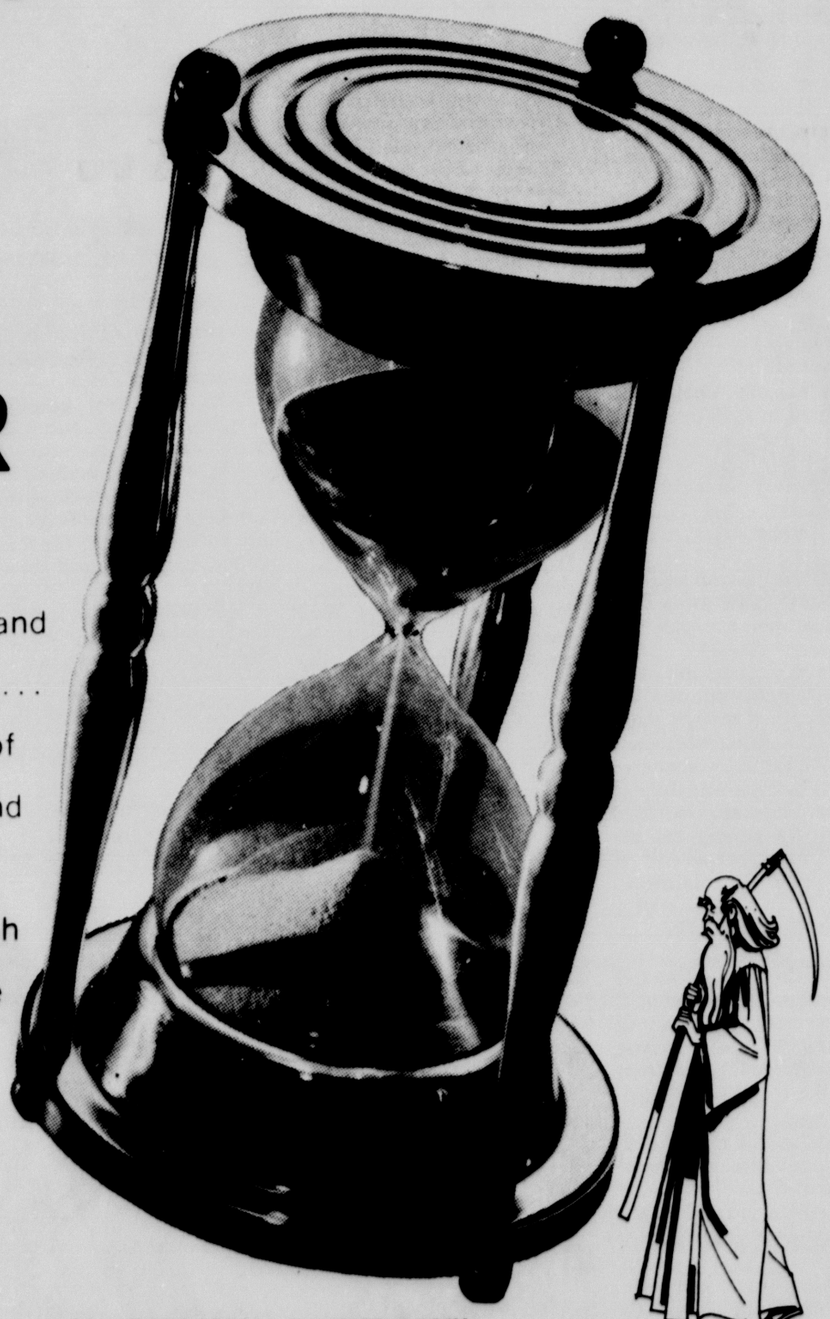

Other members of the commission are Bill Hollars of Hale County, Shirley Whitehead of Swisher County, and Nell Miller of Deaf Smith County.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE will sponsor a fun type basketball game January 27 in order to close out the cost of the city's Christmas decorations.

The event will take place in the CHS gym at 6:30 p.m. and will feature the Chamber Chicks vs. the 4 Flusherettes and the 4 Flushers against the men chamber members. (The Canyon men are considering calling themselves the "Bald Eagles!")

Tickets for the fun-for-all basketball game will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

THE RONNIE GORDON FAMILY and the C.L. Weavers spent a 6 day vacation through Christmas in Red River. The families divided their time skiing, riding the snowmobile, ice skating, and playing in the snow.

CHRISTMAS EVE found the Ron Thomasons hosting a dinner for family members from Hereford and Wellington.

SEVENTEEN family members met at the O.J. Lehman residence for a gathering during the Holidays.

THE JESSE MOSES went to El Reno, Oklahoma for Christmas. I understand that Santa was able to deliver Carol's presents at that location.

LINDA CLARK CLABORN has been visiting with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Wendell Cain this week. Linda is currently coaching girl's volleyball and boy's and girls tennis at Vernon High School.

JIM FANNING is currently home from Wharton Junior College where he is teaching.

CAL FARLEY's daughter is scheduled to speak at the Heritage Woman's Club meeting in January. She will speak about the Ranch and new developments.

ANOTHER AGGIE home for the holidays was Sheila Payne, 1971 graduate of Canyon High School.

ONE OF THE NEW CRAFT fads in Canyon is the making of artistic oval disks that sit on tiny gold easels. The craft idea begins with a picture from a card (some lovely ones are made from Christmas cards). The picture is given about 7 coats of Decal It, drying between each coat, then soaked in a soapy water solution. The back of the paper is then carefully rubbed off leaving the print on the acrylic film. This print is placed on wood, glass, canvas board, or plaster disk that has been coated with the Decal It.

After this drys the Crack It is painted on for added effect. Sometimes one may add some rub on gold for additional shine. The disk is then sprayed with acrylic and placed on an easel which has been made from a curtain hook.

THE RONNIE WRIGHTS have a new arrival in Dallas. The little boy was named Neal Bradley. Mrs. Wright is the former Margaret Williams, past president of AWS at WTSU.

MRS. OTIS BURK spent part of the Holidays (December 18-23) with the James Ray Woffords in Dallas. Mrs. Woffard is the former Janie Burk of Canyon. Janie and James Ray then visited with his family in Lockney before coming to Canyon, where they have been this week. The Woffords address is 2921 Ermine Way in Dallas.

New Rates Announced

An adjustment of long distance telephone rates within Texas, announced on July 31, but deferred because of the wage-price freeze has been authorized by the Price Commission in Washington and went to effect at 12:01 a.m. Wednesday, December 29.

The new telephone rates feature reduced charges for most One-Plus Dialing and increased rates for operator-assisted calls within Texas and the Canyon area.

Mike Patrick, manager for Southwestern Bell here, said the adjustment should increase the company's intrastate revenue by about 2 per cent.

Also being introduced along with the new rate for one-plus dialing are:

A new one-minute initial period of night (11 p.m. to 8 a.m.) One-Plus calls which do not require services of an operator;

New rates for all operator-assisted calls (station-to-station, person -to-person, credit card, coin, third number and collect) during all calling periods;

New rate periods (day, evening, night, and weekend) One-Plus calls.

These time periods are the same as now in effect for calls going outside Texas.

The telephone manager pointed out that two holidays, Labor Day and July 4, are being added to the list of days on which reduced rates apply, for One-Plus calls within Texas.

Umbarger News

BY SUSAN DOLLE

The week between Christmas and New Year's is a pleasant time; the rushing around is over and children have time to relax and enjoy what Saint Nick left. Some families are having fun on the slopes skiing. Mrs. Jack Brandt and boys Philip, Dwight, Steve, and Mark traveled to Los Alamos, New Mexico to visit and ski with her sister's family, the Otis Farmers. Besides playing, the Brandts probably received the red carpet treatment since Mr. Farmer is in his second term as mayor of Los Alamos.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson of Canyon, and Arlene and Floyd Koch also enjoyed a skiing holiday in Durango, Colo. for four days this week.

The Catholic Youth Organization held a Christmas-New Year's party last night in their recreation center. Hostesses for the evening of games and music were Debbie Ramaekers and Patricia Batenhorst. Members and guests were treated with New Year decorations, favors, and refreshments.

Volleyball is in full swing as Mr. Tom Payne has agreed to coach the teenagers this year. 7th and 8th grade girls practice on Monday nights at 6:30, 9th grade and over begin at 7:30. On Tuesday nights, boys begin playing at 7:00. Thursday evening the Umbarger school gym is reserved for men and women's teams.

Pistols and Petticoats Square Dancing Club will dance this Sunday, Jan. 2 at 7:30 in the Parish Hall with Herrick Allen of Amarillo calling.

Everyone jokes about New Year's resolutions, but if one makes a couple of realistic ones and makes himself stick to them, they can help that individual. So I have one of them: I will try to read more in 1972.

Happy New Year to each of you.

Let there be peace on earth in 1972, and let it begin with me.

Pratt Speaks To Kiwanians

Kiwanis meets at noon in the American Legion Hall.

David Levens Injured Here

David Levens, president of the West Texas State University Bank, had surgery on his right knee cap Thursday afternoon following an accident in Canyon.

Levens said he was leaving the post office when he fell and damaged his knee. His knee cap was removed in the surgery.

He is in a cast from his hip to his ankle, and will be on crutches for at least a month. Levens is recuperating at home.

Mrs. Hathaway, born June 30, 1910 in House, N.M., died Monday morning in High Plains Baptist Hospital.

Survivors include her mother, Mrs. Jeannette Robbins, 1508 8th Ave. Canyon; two daughters, Mrs. Walter L. Cooper of Canyon and Mrs. Michael Goodwin of El Paso; one son, Lawarence of Baldwin City, Ks; two sisters, Mrs. Bob Brotherton of Canyon and Mrs. Neva Walker of Independence, Oregon, and seven grandchildren.

Hales Participates In Angus Program

Richmond Hales of Canyon registered 166 head of cattle during 1971 in conjunction with the American Angus Association's Herd Improvement Records program.

Hales measured the weaning and yearling weights and grades of the cattle and they were processed at the Association's office in St. Joseph, Missouri.

The AHIR program is designed to help cattlemen do a professional, scientific job of cattle breeding by measuring the economically important traits of a beef cattle herd.

Special reports are prepared and sent to each Angus breeder enrolled in the program to give each breeder a record of each animal in his herd.

Fifteen Former Buffs Now Playing Pro Ball

Fourteen former West Texas State University Buffaloes played professional football this past fall and one former Buffalo is currently playing pro basketball.

Of the 14 former Buff gridders playing this year, two competed in the Canadian Football League, eight in the National Football League, two in the Atlantic Coast Conference and two in the Texas Football League.

Tommy Joe Coffey, the all-time leading scorer in Canadian professional football, performed as a split receiver and placement kicker for the Hamilton Tiger Cats. Dave Gasser was a linebacker for the Edmonton Eskimos.

Jerry Don Logan completed his 11th season with the Baltimore Colts as a safety. Doug Kriewald, after completing a tour of duty in the U. S. Army, played offensive guard this season with Denver.

Jesse Powell, who came out of Spur High School to attend West Texas State without a scholarship for his first semester, started seven games for the Miami Dolphins as a linebacker and was a regular all season on the specialty teams.

Powell's teammate at Miami, Eugene "Mercury" Morris, and New York Giant rookie Ralph "Rocky" Thompson were among the league's leaders in kickoff returns.

After his early season holdout, Duane Thomas returned to the Dallas Cowboys and sparkled with his running. He leads the Cowboys into their game with San Francisco Sunday afternoon. Thomas was switched from halfback to fullback.

Rookie secondary players Ralph Anderson and Raymond Brown started at various times during the season with their respective teams. Anderson plays for Pittsburgh and Brown is with the Atlanta Falcons.

Linebacker Earl Wood and split end Dave Szymakowski both played in the Atlantic Coast Conference— Earl with the Norfolk team and Dave with the Richmond club.

Punter Roland Reichardt played with Texarkana of the Texas Football league and tackle Marc Allen was with San Antonio.

Cager Simmie Hill is playing with Dallas as a regular in the American Basketball Association.

Dennis Walling Outlines West Texas Cage Defense

(Note: This is the first in a series of articles by West Texas State University head basketball coach Dennis Walling.)

We use three basic defenses at West Texas State University — a man-to-man, a zone and a trapping defense, which is a combination of both zone and man-to-man.

The court is divided into four equal parts — full court, three-quarter court, half court and the final quarter of the court. When we call a defense for full court, that number is three. Three-quarter court is two, half court is one and the final portion of the court is zero.

Man-to-man defenses are numbered in the 20s, zone defenses are numbered in the 30s and the trapping defense is 40. In other words, if we want the players to use a man-to-man, three-quarter court defense, the number is 22. Should we want a half-court zone defense, that number is 31.

After scouting an opponent, we pre-plan our defense against that particular team. We may call the defense against North Texas State the "Mean Green" defense, but it may be a 21 defense, which is a half-court, man-to-man.

During a particular game, we may change the defense several times for brief periods of time to change the game's tempo, but will usually go back to the principal defense we intended to use against that team's offense.

I give any defensive change to our playmaker guard. You will usually see the guard come over near our bench during free throws or jump balls for a brief period to check on any offensive or defensive changes I might want to use. I can also give hand signals to the guard during play.

We fell that the defense is the only way to change the tempo of a game. Should a team have good movement against our man-to-man defense or our offense be rather sluggish, we may change to a pressing zone defense in order to bring about a change of tempo.

With our personnel, our basic defense is a 21 defense, or a half-court man-to-man pressure type of defense. We use a zone defense in spots to throw off the other team.

Against Weber State this season, I started with a zone defense for three reasons — to stop the quick movement of Weber against man-to-man defenses, to conserve our strength as it was the start of a three-game road trip and also to cut down on our fouls. Weber just was never able to shoot us out of that defense. We lost the game, 70-64, but it was a lack of offense rather than a lack of defense which resulted in the defeat.

Our guys play a zone defense fairly well. They press full court fairly well with the 32 defense. That defense is similar to the UCLA 2-2-1 zone press. We started with that defense in our final road game before the break — in the 88-78 win over Eastern New Mexico University.

With the basic 21 defense, the key men are the guards. Our larger men are playing behind them and watching the play develop. If the guards put on the good man-to-man pressure, the wing men and post man usually pick up the tempo of play. We usually front the opposing pivot man and both Jon McCoy and Jerry Christian do a good job there.

Steve (Davidson) is a gambler on defense and will hurt us some, but then again he makes some big plays, especially when we are in a zone defense.

Since Scott Doores earned a starting berth our defense has improved. Of course, the defense will pick up again when Ralph Houston returns to action. He is our top defensive player.

Mike Rodriguez has done a good job at times with the man-to-man defenses. Glen Fletcher, Brent Lake and Cleotis Reece all do fantastic jobs with some of the zone defenses.

Coach Speculates On WT Players Condition

West Texas State University basketball Coach Dennis Walling sat in the stands of Amarillo High School's Gymnasium Tuesday afternoon with a smile on his face.

The Buffalo coach was watching the annual Amarillo City Basketball Tournament, looking for future prospects. While he saw a few interesting moves on the court, he had just come from Canyon where he had seen some movement which was even more pleasant.

"Ralph Houston was in the gym doing some running this morning and he sure didn't look bad," said the dark-haired coach.

Houston, the 6-6, 215-pound junior from Muskegon Heights, Mich., has missed all six of the Buffalo games this season with a broken right foot. The team captain has now been given the go ahead to get himself back into playing condition.

"I look for it to be three or four weeks before Ralph is ready to go full speed, but he was moving pretty well today," said Walling.

Houston was the team's third leading scorer last year, supporting a 15.0 point per game average, and was the team's second leading rebounder. In addition to his scoring and rebounding ability, coach Walling puts high value on Houston's defense and leadership abilities.

While he was delighted about the progress of Houston, Walling has grave doubts about the injury to high-scoring Ray Golson. The 6-3 senior was injured early against Weber State and has not played since then.

Golson's right knee was examined by an Amarillo doctor after the Buffaloes returned from their early December road trip. At that time, the knee was so inflamed that the doctor was unable to give a complete analysis of the injury. He ordered the New York City resident to continue to use crutches until he could look at the knee again Jan. 3.

"I haven't heard from Ray since he went home from Christmas, but I talked with Steve Davidson's mother several days ago," said Walling. "She said Ray is having a hard time with the knee and it is still painful."

Walling's Buffaloes will return from their Christmas break Friday and he will work the team out once that evening. They will workout twice Saturday and at least once Sunday before playing the independent Athletes in Action at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum.

The Athletes in Action are a team made up of former collegiate players who travel about the country, playing all of their games on the road. The Athletes in Action team is a branch of the Campus Crusade for Christ and the players give their witness for Christ at halftime.
